Must be the . . . cap?

To celebrate the college football season, Bridgestone Golf, the No. 1 ball fitter in the game, is offering collegiate team-logoed caps to complement its popular college team-logoed golf balls. The Bridgestone collegiate caps are constructed of 100 percent washed cotton twill and offer a relaxed fit. At the moment, the company is offering 30 schools, including the University of Arizona. And while there is no Arizona State cap to date, Bridgestone does make an ASU ball.

Buckle up!

In a recent survey by Serola Biomechanics, four out of five golfers admitted their game is being negatively impacted by back pain. More specifically, lower-back pain accounted for more than one-third of the back-related maladies. The Serola Sacroiliac Belt utilizes a patented design to improve back strength, enhance performance and provide pain relief. By stabilizing the sacroiliac joint in the lower back, the belt alleviates pain stemming from tremendous tension and torqueing that the golf swing places on the human body. Available in sizes S-XL, as well as custom sizes.
